Extended Leadership Team,

As a Xerox leader, I want to make sure you are informed of a recent development that may increase attention on the company.

One of our shareholders, Carl Icahn, intends to nominate four individuals to stand for election to our Board of Directors at our 2018 Annual Meeting of Shareholders. Our Board will review the candidates and make a recommendation when we file our proxy materials for the Annual Meeting, which has not yet been scheduled. (For reference, last year's Annual Meeting was in May.)

The most important thing for you to know is that it is business as usual for us. This news has no impact on our operations, our team, our strategy or our priorities. It's mid-December and I need all of you to remain focused on delivering the products and services that our customers expect and meeting your financial plans for the quarter.

We are on track as a company and today reaffirmed our guidance for this fiscal year. During the first three quarters, we have delivered on our commitments to shareholders and they have recognized our strong progress: Xerox's share price has increased almost 30% year-to-date, well in excess of the S&P 500. Additionally, we have momentum on our side, driven by the excitement from the industry after hearing about, and seeing our new products. Let's keep it up!

As always, it is important for us to speak with one voice and in this case, it is legally required that you only use messaging and materials provided by the Communications team. We have issued a press release about today's news that you may use to respond to customer questions. Please remember to direct any external inquiries to the appropriate individual who will respond on the company's behalf.

- Investor or Wall Street inquiries to Xerox Investor Relations: Jennifer Horsley, 203-849-2656, jennifer.horsley@xerox.com
- Press and media inquiries to Xerox Public Relations: Carl Langsenkamp, 585-423-5782, carl.langsenkamp@xerox.com
- Customer concerns to Xerox Communications: Renee Heiser, 585-264-2600, renee.heiser@xerox.com

You may be asked about this news by your teams – and it is the responsibility of you, the leaders of the organization, to keep everyone focused on serving our customers and delivering on our commitments. As you talk to your people, make sure you do not embellish or speculate. Share the press release and if asked, let your teams know the following:

- It is business as usual at Xerox. This news has no impact on our operations, our team, our strategy or our priorities.
- We can't speculate on what may happen. This is a matter that is handled in the normal course of business, in conjunction with our Board of Directors.
- We're making progress on our strategy and Strategic Transformation. The press release we issued reaffirmed our financial guidance – underscoring this progress.
- We will keep you informed of any important developments.

Let's stay focused and continue to push through the final stretch and make it a win for the year.

Thank you for your continued leadership.

Sincerely,

Jeff
